REQUEST FOR A QUOTATION: PROVISION OF COMPUTER ASSISTED AUDIT TECHNIQUES ON VARIOUS OPERATING SYSTEMS USED BY THE ENTITY IN REPORTING ON TECHNICAL INDICATORS TO METROPOLITAN TECH COMPANY

BACKGROUND

The MTC requires the services of a competent service provider to provide computer assisted audit techniques (CAATS) on ICT security and internal control solutions used by the entity in its reporting. These services will be performed on solutions that are required to enhance MTC's compliance to regulatory and compliance ecosystem. MTC runs the following systems, which are the subject of the CAATS services required:

- OpManager
- Service Desk Plus
- HSNM
- AxxonOne

Regulatory and compliance in the ICT (Information and Communication Technology) industry means adhering to mandatory laws, standards, and security frameworks governing data protection, privacy, and digital operations. It involves implementing controls (e.g., encryption, auditing) to prevent penalties, data breaches, and reputational damage.

Security controls are safeguards or countermeasures designed to protect an organization's physical and digital assets by preventing, detecting, responding to, and minimizing security risks. Their core purpose is to maintain the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of data, reduce risk to acceptable levels, ensure compliance, and support business continuity. It is therefore critical for the entity to test the soundness of the various security features of these operating systems to ensure data security, credibility and accuracy.

The provision of CAAT's will assist in detecting whether these systems perform, at a minimum, the following mandatory functions:

- Risk Reduction: They act as an interconnected system of defence to minimize the likelihood of breaches, unauthorized access, and cyber threats.
- Asset Protection: They secure critical infrastructure, intellectual property, and data from theft, damage, or unauthorized access.
- Compliance and Regulation: They help organizations comply with legal and regulatory standards (e.g., GDPR, HIPAA), avoiding fines.

- Operational Continuity: They ensure that business operations continue smoothly by preventing, detecting, and recovering from incidents.
- Audit trail and logs: One can be able to track activities that users have performed on the system.
- Access Control (IAM & MFA): Restricting user access permissions to only what is necessary, including implementing multi-factor authentication (MFA) to prevent unauthorized access.
- Data Encryption: Protecting data in transit and at rest, which is a mandatory requirement for most regulatory standards to ensure confidentiality.
- Continuous Monitoring & Logging: Utilizing SIEM (Security Information and Event Management) tools to log system activity, detect threats, and enable compliance auditing.
- Incident Response & Reporting: Establishing, testing, and documenting a formal incident response plan to handle breaches efficiently, as required by regulations.
- Regular Risk Assessments: Identifying and mitigating vulnerabilities through regular audits and vulnerability assessments to meet regulatory requirements.
- Information Security Policies: Developing a robust set of security policies that outline employee responsibilities, access rules, and data handling procedures, providing a foundation for compliance.
- Renaming of default accounts: the systems should require default accounts (such as admin accounts) to be renamed after creation.
- System review of administrator activities: The system should require reviews of administrator activities.
- User access: Limit user access commensurate with user responsibilities and provide reports to evidence this.
- Logs: The ability of the system to extract a system generated log of changes implemented for defined periods.
- Backup: The ability of systems to perform scheduled backup of data.
- User creation dates: System logs of account/user creation dates
- Password resets: Provide system generated list of password resets
- User accounts: Generates user accounts that are unique on each system
- Password parameters: Requires adequate password parameter settings (e.g. Minimum password length - 8 characters)

Further to system functionalities, the CAATs procedures should also cover the following:

- Whether reviews of user access rights on each of the systems were performed.
- That inactive or unnecessary accounts are disabled or removed
- A formal process is in place for granting, modifying, and revoking access rights.
- Ensure that results of access reviews are documented and retained for audit purposes.
- Ensuring that system administrator activities are reviewed
- Offsite storage of data

OBJECTIVE OF THE RFQ

The objective of this RFQ is to appoint a service provider to provide computer assisted audit techniques on ICT Security and Internal Control Governance Solutions (Operating systems and software) used by the Metropolitan Tech Company (MTC) for the main of protecting an organization's information, systems, and infrastructure from damage, unauthorized access, or loss by establishing standardized, consistent security measures. It aims to mitigate risks, ensure compliance with laws/best practices, and define user responsibilities.

To achieve ICT compliance and regulation, the MTC needs to implement a combination of technical, administrative, and physical controls. Key controls include mandatory data encryption, strict access controls (IAM), Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA), continuous monitoring, incident response planning. These controls must be tested through CAATs to ensure that they are functions as planned and will therefore be able to assist the entity in mitigating various ICT risks it aims to avoid.

Key objectives include:

- Risk Mitigation: Reducing the risk of damage or harm to IT assets.
- Standardization: Ensuring consistent application of security measures across all devices and departments.
